QUOTE

"I need an extra source of income to fund my living expenses and graduate education."

DESCRIPTION

Being a graduate student in Boston, Vishal's expenses kept mounting. He desperately needed an extra source of income to fund his living expenses and graduate education. Affording this lifestyle would have been possible if he had a full-time job; which of course is possible only after the completion of his graduate education. Vishal also owns a car that he purchased with a loan to help him travel to his internship at a company that is inaccessible by the local public transport. Vishal is one of the many casual users who is in dire need of a product that would help him earn extra income on his time, terms and conditions.
